HUNGER RIOTS SWEEP GERMANY

Frenzied Crowds Vainly Strive to Find Food.

MANY KILLED IN CLASHES

Separatists Continue Their Activities in the Rhineland, With Many Fatal Brushings With the Police—Big Red Army Reported Forming in the Ruhr—Hamburg Harbor Tied Up by a Strike.

Berlin, Oct. 26.—A new wave of hunger riots and plundering is sweeping Germany.

Reports from Kiel in the north to Munich in the south and from Essen in the west to the Polish border in the east tell of frenzied crowds trying to find bread and potatoes.

Sections of Frankfurt were in an uproar for hours. In more than a dozen places in the Ruhr there was rioting. In Gelsenkirchen 20 stores and shops were looted. Shipments in railway yards were stormed. Market wagons were held up in the streets and plundered of their contents.

In Barmen the police were compelled to resort to the use of firearms, killing two and wounding several. In Kiel practically all the big bakeries were plundered. The mobs then began looting the clothing stores. Fifteen were wounded in clashes with the police. A small gunboat reinforced the officers.

A great red army is being formed in the Ruhr, and the separatists continue their activities in the Rhineland with many clashes resulting in fatalities and injuries.

In the coal fields and manufacturing centers of Germany strikes were reported with accompanying riots and bloodshed.

New and serious disorders broke out in Berlin. An army of communists was reported as marching towards the capital and detachments of armed police were dispatched to meet them.

The harbor at Hamburg is completely tied up by a strike of dock workers. The strike led to clashes the last three days, in which 50 were killed and hundreds wounded. At the reichswehr headquarters at Wandsebek there were minor clashes with communists. At Hamburg, near Hamburg, the police routed communists with machine guns, but the reds continued the warfare and later threw up barbed wire and built trenches. Several of these riots gave the police grave trouble.

Several street battles and much looting and plundering were reported from Feiburg in Saxony. Two German police were killed in the fighting accompanying rioting by the unemployed at Cologne.

Seven were killed and many wounded at Aix-la-Chapelle when renewed attempts were made to dislodge the separatists from the municipal buildings. The republicans are still "holding the fort," in spite of repeated attacks by the police. The chief of police and nine of his men were killed at Crefeld in attacks on the separatists, who successfully defended their position and remain in control. There is continual rioting at Essen, Borchum, Soden, Andernach, Geissenheim and other Ruhr and Rhineland towns.

There was a bloody clash between the police and separatists at Bonn, in which the police were victorious. The separatist forces were driven from the town.

PUTS IN BUSY DAY

Lloyd George Sees Sights and Makes Numerous Calls at Capital.

Washington, Oct. 26.—David Lloyd George put in one of the busiest days of his life here. He rushed from one department to another, had luncheon with President Coolidge at the white house, tea at the home of former President Wilson and dinner as the guest of Secretary Mellon, with a whole lot of other interesting meetings and experiences sandwiched in between. The former premier also viewed the capitol building, Smithsonian institution, Washington monument, Lincoln memorial and the white house and state department, and drove once around the speedway. Lloyd George met William Jennings Bryan and chatted with him on nearly every subject except prohibition.

Six men, alleged by secret service agents to be members of a gang of counterfeiters numbering 100 men working New York, Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania, were arrested at Detroit.

NOTE REJECTED

Germany Makes Final Attempt to Secure Allied Leniency.

Paris, Oct. 26.—Germany's last desperate effort toward allied leniency, contained in her note to the reparations commission, has made no impression on the French government. Belgium's one vote and France's two votes will be cast against consideration of Germany's offer, thus ensuring its relegation to the mountainous pile of other unsuccessful notes. Meanwhile the German government has unofficially informed France the note is her last word and that she can do no more except to "allow events to take their course."

Hugo Stinnes has closed his mines in the Ruhr. Krupps and all mines and factories will close Monday, throwing millions out of work, leaving them without money and without bread and with their children crying for milk.

WALTON DEFEATED IN SUPREME COURT

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 26.—The last barrier erected by J. C. Walton to prevent his suspension from the chief magistracy of Oklahoma was broken down when the state supreme court made permanent a writ that prohibited the district court from interfering with Lieutenant Governor M. E. Trapp in performance of the governor's duties.

The house of representatives adopted the seventh article of impeachment charged against Walton. It had experienced a thrilling session, enlivened by a fight and ejection from the chamber of Representative J. W. Callahan, farmer-laborite and reconstruction leader, who in the course of a fiery speech accused the house of being not only dominated by, but dictated to by Grand Dragon Jewett of the Ku Klux Klan.

"Mr. Walton is my friend and I have no disposition to harass or embarrass him," said Acting Governor Trapp. "I have no policies other than a strict interpretation of the law. Walton has my sympathy."

Just what Walton would do now can not be foretold. He refused to be seen or issue a statement.

GENERAL STRIKE LOOMS

Mexican Marine Workers Spurn Ruling of Arbitration Board.

Mexico City, Oct. 26.—A general strike of organized labor throughout Mexico is threatened in sympathy with the striking marine workers and longshoremen, who have refused to adhere to the rulings of the board of arbitration and have launched a boycott campaign against the terminal companies. A report from Vera Cruz said the union rail workers in and around that city had threatened to strike unless the general superintendent of the terminals changes his attitude towards the striking marine workers, and that such a move would be quickly followed by the declaration of a general strike.

INQUISITORS URGE PROSECUTION

FORBES PROMISES SENSATION

Former Veterans' Bureau Director Says He Will Wait Until "They" Have Finished Attacking Him and Then Tell His Side of the Story. Treasury Department Launches an Independent Investigation.

Washington, Oct. 26.—The senate investigation of the veterans' bureau, as administered by former Director Charles R. Forbes, now gives promise of developing other sensations.

Testimony before the committee alleging that Forbes received cash loans and entered into a conspiracy with hospital contractors is but the beginning of revelations, it is declared by members of the committee.

Immediate prosecution of Forbes is demanded by the committee. Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, committee chairman, said: "The committee looks to be doing its duty. It is obvious. The committee will be surprised if the attorney general has not acted before its report and recommendations go to congress."

It is believed the investigation will extend even beyond the sphere of government influence of the veterans' bureau. Forbes was a powerful political figure and had powerful friends in Washington. Some of these friends are alleged by the investigators to have used powerful government agencies to protect Forbes and prevent publicity of facts now being brought to light officially. This alleged conspiracy will be probed, it is said.

The treasury department, through the investigating unit of the internal revenue bureau, has launched an independent investigation into what has become of huge quantities of drugs reported to have disappeared from the veterans' bureau supply depot at Perryville, Md., during Forbes' administration. Testimony before the senate committee was that there were $5,000,000 worth of drugs at the depot and that Forbes sought, according to the testimony, to engineer a conspiracy to dispose of vast quantities of the narcotics, as well as 87,000 quarts of liquor.

General O'Ryan already has notified the committee that he will have further evidence to present concerning the purchase of the tuberculosis hospital site near Livermore, Cal. Evidence in the committee's hands alleges that this property, for which the government was asked $150,000 under an option secured at the instance of the late Charles F. Cramer, former general counsel of the bureau and for which the government paid $105,000, had been offered to the government by the same owner at $85,000.

Forbes gave out the following statement: "I have learned there will be further attacks upon me and I can't speak at this time. I shall wait until they are finished attacking me, and then I'll tell my side of the story. When I do talk they will get another 'sensation.'"

DAUGHERTY TO ACT

Prosecution of Alleged Graft and Fraud to Begin at Once.

Washington, Oct. 26.—The department of justice will immediately begin prosecution of alleged graft and fraud in the veterans' bureau as brought out before the special investigating committee.

This was stated officially after Attorney General Daugherty held a long conference with President Coolidge. Both agreed, it was stated, that in view of allegations that officials had been bribed in the letting of contracts and the purchase of supplies that the case now is one for the grand jury.

It was intimated that the prosecution will take on the ramifications of one already under way in the prosecution of war frauds and that every angle of veterans' bureau activity will be carefully inquired into.

Kansas City Wins Series.

Baltimore, Oct. 26.—Kansas City won the minor league world series by defeating Baltimore, 5 to 2, in the ninth and deciding game. Kansas City was the pennant winner in the American association and Baltimore the champion in the International league.

Akron, O., Oct. 26.—Marion "Slim" Webb, 40, horse trainer, was charged with first degree murder, following the death of F. W. Gerhardt, 53, racing judge, who was shot down last Saturday in the lobby of the Portage hotel here. Gerhardt died after he appeared to be improving after a blood transfusion. Peter Callen, another racing judge, who was wounded in the same shooting, probably will recover.

Dry Agent's Home Bombed.

Youngstown, O., Oct. 26.—Five hundred dollars reward has been offered by the Columbiana county commissioners for information leading to the arrest of persons who dynamited the home of S. E. The damage is estimated at $2,000.

Triple Tragedy.

The bodies were discovered by Hersh's sister-in-law, Miss Alma Wilson. Hersh lay beside his wife, a pistol in his right hand. Their son's body was in bed in the same room. Police believe that Hersh shot his wife, son and himself. No motive is known.

Woman Fatally Burned.

Columbus, Oct. 26.—Mrs. Lizzie Farrand, 40, was fatally burned as a result of a gas explosion at her home here. The explosion, it is believed, resulted when Mrs. Farrand, alone in the house at the time, tried to light a gas stove in the kitchen from which gas was escaping. The explosion came with terrific force, badly damaging the house.

Slain by Thieves.

Elyria, O., Oct. 26.—On the supposition that she carried large sums of money about her person or secreted in her home, burglars entered the home of Mrs. Annie E. Hebebrand, 79, beat her to death and robbed her. Mrs. Hebebrand was struck over the head with some blunt instrument and choked.

AMERICA'S REPLY HELD CAUTIOUS

Great Britain Would Hold Reparations Conference.

HUGHES' ATTITUDE REVEALED

United States Willing to Take Part, but Such Conference Must Be Advisory and the Question of Interallied Debt Kept Entirely Separate From the Problem of Reparations, Says the Secretary of State.

London, Oct. 26.—It is understood that publication of Anglo-American correspondence with the reparation commission was made at the present juncture in order to bring pressure on Premier Poincare, who persists in thinking that the United States will hold aloof from the experts' conference if France persists in her refusal to join.

It is learned that the American charge d'affaires at Paris had a long conference with Peretti de la Rocca, chief of the political division of the French foreign office, while the British ambassador, the Marquis of Crewe, has seen the premier personally twice in the past week. Poincare, however, maintains that it is a matter for the existing reparations commission, and will not hear of any proposals for a reduction in figures. The foreign office thinks it probable that there will be a conference in London before Christmas.

Commenting on Lord Curzon's note to Secretary Hughes and the answer to it, the Daily Chronicle says: "The foreign office was fully justified in making the appeal at this stage for co-operation by the United States. It is only to be regretted that such action was not taken long ago before the European situation became so desperate."

The Daily News says: "We hope and very earnestly believe that the invitation will be accepted. The time has definitely gone by when the world will be content to regard French intransigence as an excuse for inaction. We believe the turning point in this long and tragic history has at last been reached."

The Daily Mail says: "The American response to the British scheme is cautious, vague and cold. The scheme carries the world very little further."

The Morning Post declares that the American reply is virtually a rebuff for Lord Curzon, adding: "There is an unfortunate lack of freshness in the communication of the American government."

Secretary Hughes, in his reply to Lord Curzon, declares that the United States is willing to take part in an economic conference in which all the European allies chiefly concerned in German reparations participate for the purpose of ascertaining Germany's capacity to pay. He emphasized three points, however, first, that while the United States has no desire to see Germany relieved of her responsibility or just obligations, regard must be had for Germany's capacity to pay and for the fundamental condition of Germany's rehabilitation; second, that such conference should be advisory, and, third, that the question of the interallied debt is entirely separate from the question of reparations.

MORE MONEY THE CRY

Berlin, Oct. 26.—In spite of the printers' strike, "steam up and more speed" were the orders issued by the German reichsbank to the money presses. Complaints are coming from all parts of the country that there is not enough money to do business with and demands for almost a quintillion marks are registered with the reichsbank.

It is hoped that by Saturday the presses will be running off between 700 and 400 trillion marks daily. Germany's floating debt now exceeds 500 quintillion marks. If marks had been printed at the rate of one mark bill every second since the birth of Christ, not enough would have been run off in 1923 years to buy one American dollar today, according to a mathematician here.

Fatal Duel.

Buenos Aires, Oct. 26.—In a "gentlemen's duel" with cavalry sabres, M. Leiva, an Italian newspaper correspondent, was fatally wounded by M. Agudino, cable editor of La Nacion. Agudino, who showed the greatest bravery and skill in the three assaults made, was slightly wounded.

FORD OUTLINES ATTITUDE

For President Coolidge If He Will Enforce Prohibition Law.

Detroit, Oct. 26.—"I'm for President Coolidge if he will enforce the prohibition laws," said Henry Ford when asked what he thought of the third party that was organized in Detroit. "You can also say," continued Mr. Ford, "that I think that the president is going about the matter of enforcement in the right way. It is undoubtedly a federal matter, but he has given the governors and the states of the country the first chance. They, too, have sworn to uphold the constitution. He said for them to enforce the law. If they do not do it, he evidently will use federal means of enforcing the law. It is finally up to President Coolidge. It is a federal matter. It is an important matter. It is so important that, as I have said before, I think that the army and navy ought to be used if need be to enforce it."

May Run For President.

Mexico City, Oct. 26.—Librado Rivera, revolutionist, was released from the penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., to find himself the potential candidate of the Socialist party of Mexico for president in the coming election. A delegation of Mexican communists and socialists will mobilize at the border to welcome Rivera, who was sentenced in 1918 at Los Angeles under the espionage act. Rivera was sentenced for 15 years, but was turned loose on condition he would return to Mexico. He had already served three terms in the United States for his revolutionary activities.

REPUBLIC HELD A JOKE

Promoters Reported Protected by French and Belgian Troops.

London, Oct. 26.—Here is the first uncensored eye-witness story of the formation of the "Rhineland republic" brought to London by a competent and reliable observer: "The Rhineland republic is worse than a joke—it is a tragedy. A few hundred ruffians, mostly boys under 20, armed with revolvers, are terrorizing the populace. The people are unable to resist because they are unarmed. Only partisans of the republic are permitted by the French and Belgians to carry arms. Despite this handicap, furious crowds at Aix-la-Chapelle broke into a furniture store, armed themselves with broken furniture and charged the Aix republicans, whom they literally beat to death, despite the fact that the latter, defending themselves with revolvers, killed many assailants."

The explosion came with terrific force, badly damaging the house.

Slain by Thieves.

Elyria, O., Oct. 26.—On the supposition that she carried large sums of money about her person or secreted in her home, burglars entered the home of Mrs. Annie E. Hebebrand, 79, beat her to death and robbed her. Mrs. Hebebrand was struck over the head with some blunt instrument and choked.

Dope Case Dismissed.

Cleveland, Oct. 26.—Two men held on charges of doping a racing station were dismissed when they appeared in justice court here. The two men, Fred Getz of Lancaster and Earl H. Clark of Columbus, were accused of aiding in giving dope to Symbol S. Forrest, a pacer, at Brooklyn race track, July 13.

Admits Shooting.

Springfield, O., Oct. 26.—Mrs. W. D. Borst, 65, colored, admitted to police that she fired the shot which caused the death of Nathaniel Pritchett, 16, colored, here. According to the story told police, Pritchett had quarreled with Mrs. Borst's nephew.

Four Killed at Crossing.

Attica, O., Oct. 26.—Mrs. Helen Andras of Bucyrus, Mrs. Petronella Andras of Toledo, Bert Kales of Napoleon and an unidentified man were killed at a crossing here when a train hit the automobile in which they were riding.

Cincinnati, Oct. 26.—George H. Beazell, Jr., and William H. Chatfield of the bankrupt brokerage firm of Beazell & Chatfield of this city were indicted by the Hamilton county grand jury. The concern failed last April for more than $1,000,000.

AMERICA'S REPLY HELD CAUTIOUS

Great Britain Would Hold Reparations Conference.

HUGHES' ATTITUDE REVEALED

United States Willing to Take Part, but Such Conference Must Be Advisory and the Question of Interallied Debt Kept Entirely Separate From the Problem of Reparations, Says the Secretary of State.

London, Oct. 26.—It is understood that publication of Anglo-American correspondence with the reparations commission was made at the present juncture in order to bring pressure on Premier Poincare, who persists in thinking that the United States will hold aloof from the experts' conference if France persists in her refusal to join.

It is learned that the American charge d'affaires at Paris had a long conference with Peretti de la Rocca, chief of the political division of the French foreign office, while the British ambassador, the Marquis of Crewe, has seen the premier personally twice in the past week. Poincare, however, maintains that it is a matter for the existing reparations commission, and will not hear of any proposals for a reduction in figures. The foreign office thinks it probable that there will be a conference in London before Christmas.

Commenting on Lord Curzon's note to Secretary Hughes and the answer to it, the Daily Chronicle says: "The foreign office was fully justified in making the appeal at this stage for co-operation by the United States. It is only to be regretted that such action was not taken long ago before the European situation became so desperate."

The Daily News says: "We hope and very earnestly believe that the invitation will be accepted. The time has definitely gone by when the world will be content to regard French intransigence as an excuse for inaction. We believe the turning point in this long and tragic history has at last been reached."

The Daily Mail says: "The American response to the British scheme is cautious, vague and cold. The scheme carries the world very little further."

The Morning Post declares that the American reply is virtually a rebuff for Lord Curzon, adding: "There is an unfortunate lack of freshness in the communication of the American government."

Secretary Hughes, in his reply to Lord Curzon, declares that the United States is willing to take part in an economic conference in which all the European allies chiefly concerned in German reparations participate for the purpose of ascertaining Germany's capacity to pay. He emphasized three points, however, first, that while the United States has no desire to see Germany relieved of her responsibility or just obligations, regard must be had for Germany's capacity to pay and for the fundamental condition of Germany's rehabilitation; second, that such conference should be advisory, and, third, that the question of the interallied debt is entirely separate from the question of reparations.

MORE MONEY THE CRY

Berlin, Oct. 26.—In spite of the printers' strike, "steam up and more speed" were the orders issued by the German reichsbank to the money presses. Complaints are coming from all parts of the country that there is not enough money to do business with and demands for almost a quintillion marks are registered with the reichsbank.

It is hoped that by Saturday the presses will be running off between 300 and 400 trillion marks daily. Germany's floating debt now exceeds 500 quintillion marks. If marks had been printed at the rate of a one mark bill every second since the birth of Christ, not enough would have been run off in 1923 years to buy one American dollar today, according to a mathematician here.

Fatal Duel.

Buenos Aires, Oct. 26.—In a "gentlemen's duel" with cavalry sabres, M. Leiva, an Italian newspaper correspondent, was fatally wounded by M. Agudino, cable editor of La Nacion. Agudino, who showed the greatest bravery and skill in the three assaults made, was slightly wounded.

For President Coolidge If He Will Enforce Prohibition Law.

Detroit, Oct. 26.—"I'm for President Coolidge if he will enforce the prohibition laws," said Henry Ford when asked what he thought of the third party that was organized in Detroit. "You can also say," continued Mr. Ford, "that I think that the president is going about the matter of enforcement in the right way. It is undoubtedly a federal matter, but he has given the governors and the states of the country the first chance. They, too, have sworn to uphold the constitution. He said for them to enforce the law. If they do not do it, he evidently will use federal means of enforcing the law. It is finally up to President Coolidge. It is a federal matter. It is an important matter. It is so important that, as I have said before, I think that the army and navy ought to be used if need be to enforce it."

May Run For President.

Mexico City, Oct. 26.—Librado Rivera, revolutionist, was released from the penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., to find himself the potential candidate of the Socialist party of Mexico for president in the coming election. A delegation of Mexican communists and socialists will mobilize at the border to welcome Rivera, who was sentenced in 1918 at Los Angeles under the espionage act. Rivera was sentenced for 15 years, but was turned loose on condition he would return to Mexico. He had already served three terms in the United States for his revolutionary activities.

REPUBLIC HELD A JOKE

Promoters Reports Protected by French and Belgian Troops.

London, Oct. 26.—Here is the first uncensored eye-witness story of the formation of the "Rhineland republic" brought to London by a competent and reliable observer: "The Rhineland republic is worse than a joke—it is a tragedy. A few hundred ruffians, mostly boys under 20, armed with revolvers, are terrorizing the populace. The people are unable to resist because they are unarmed. Only partisans of the republic are permitted by the French and Belgians to carry arms. Despite this handicap, furious crowds at Aix-la-Chapelle broke into a furniture store, armed themselves with broken furniture and charged the Aix republicans, whom they literally beat to death, despite the fact that the latter, defending themselves with revolvers, killed many assailants."

FORTUNE HUNTERS

By H. IRVING KING

(© 1923, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

EVERYBODY said the match was a most suitable one. His comfortable little fortune, added to her comfortable little fortune, would be beneficial to both. The parties concerned in the case were Clarissa Maxwell and Madison James. James belonged to an exclusive, but rather inexpensive, club where he appeared regularly once a day. He accepted invitations to dinner and to take yachting trips.

Miss Maxwell was active in various charitable and "uplift" organizations. She called great society leaders by their first names and by them was called "Clarissa dear" in return.

That Madison James and Clarissa Maxwell should be brought together was inevitable. They moved in the same social orbit. That they should attract each other was considered quite natural.

Clarissa was thirty and Madison was thirty-five. Not knowing the reason of their having remained single so long their friends invented reasons to suit themselves. Clarissa, it was decided, had remained unwed because of an early love affair. The young man had married somebody else or had died; the majority voted in favor of death. Madison had not married because if he did so without the approval of an extremely aged and extremely wealthy great-uncle he forfeited his chance to a large fortune. These reasons for celibacy were entirely satisfactory to their inventors but in point of fact were without the slightest foundation.

Clarissa had had no early love affair and Madison was possessed of no wealthy great-uncle of extreme age, or, in fact, of any great-uncle of any sort. But now, everybody said, the end of their bachelorhood and spinsterhood was approaching. Madison's antediluvian great-uncle had approved and Clarissa had locked up the memory of her youthful lover in the closet of forgetfulness.

The engagement was announced; it only remained to fix the wedding day. It was agreed by the parties most concerned that this should be done on a certain night when Madison and Clarissa were to go out to dinner alone and talk it over. They went to a quiet restaurant and took possession of a quiet corner. For the first time since their engagement something intangible seemed to have risen between them. Both were strangely silent and preoccupied. They got through dinner by talking forced platitudes with each other.

At last Madison leaned back in his chair and said: "Well, Clarissa, when is it to be?" She hesitated; her eyes were misty. But she quickly recovered herself and said in an even voice: "Madison, before we go any further, I have a confession to make. You think that I am possessed of a comfortable fortune. As a matter of fact, I haven't a cent. I have been living on an allowance made me by my Aunt Martha, who is in the enjoyment of a large income from the estate of her deceased husband. This income is only for her life, and she is now aged and in feeble health. If you marry me, you take a penniless bride."

It was a full minute before he spoke and then without looking up he said: "I knew all that long ago. I looked you up before I proposed."

"And yet you did propose!" gasped Clarissa eagerly.

"Yes," said he. "And I also have a confession to make. I have hardly a dollar to my name. Ten years ago, after being graduated from the school of mines, which I had entered after completing my college course, I found myself, by the sudden death of my father, who had suffered large financial losses, possessed of an expensive and extensive wardrobe and $10,000. I came to New York. How I managed to string out that $10,000 for ten years it would take too long to tell you. It was a truly marvelous exploit at which I am rather amazed myself. But I am at the end of my rope now, and if you marry me you will take a penniless husband."

"Oh, I knew all that some time ago," replied Clarissa. "I looked you up before I accepted you."

"And yet you did accept me!" cried Madison.

"Yes," said Clarissa. "I couldn't help it. And I was so afraid that when I confessed you would—"

"And," interrupted Madison, "I was so afraid that when I confessed you would—"

"But we didn't, either of us," laughed Clarissa.

"I guess the truth is that at first we both intended to marry for money," said Madison.

"And we both found that there was something better than money to marry for," added Clarissa.

"That's about it," said Madison, "and now, Clarissa, when shall it be? Benoni Lockwood asked me yesterday to select a man for him to go down and look after his mining interests in Mexico. I shall tell him tomorrow that I will take the job myself. What do you say if we get married quietly day after tomorrow and go for a wedding trip to the halls of the Montezumas?"

"Day after tomorrow will be Wednesday," mused Clarissa. "Make it Thursday and I will be all ready."

No Evidence.

"Yes," said he. "And I also have a confession to make. I have hardly a dollar to my name. Ten years ago, after being graduated from the school of mines, which I had entered after completing my college course, I found myself, by the sudden death of my father, who had suffered large financial losses, possessed of an expensive and extensive wardrobe and $10,000. I came to New York. How I managed to string out that $10,000 for ten years it would take too long to tell you. It was a truly marvelous exploit at which I am rather amazed myself. But I am at the end of my rope now, and if you marry me you will take a penniless husband."

"Oh, I knew all that some time ago," replied Clarissa. "I looked you up before I accepted you."

"And yet you did accept me!" cried Madison.

"Yes," said Clarissa. "I couldn't help it. And I was so afraid that when I confessed you would—"

"And," interrupted Madison, "I was so afraid that when I confessed you would—"

"But we didn't, either of us," laughed Clarissa.

"I guess the truth is that at first we both intended to marry for money," said Madison.

"And we both found that there was something better than money to marry for," added Clarissa.

"That's about it," said Madison. "And now, Clarissa, when shall it be? Benoni Lockwood asked me yesterday to select a man for him to go down and look after his mining interests in Mexico. I shall tell him tomorrow that I will take the job myself. What do you say if we get married quietly day after tomorrow and go for a wedding trip to the halls of the Montezumas?"

"Day after tomorrow will be Wednesday," mused Clarissa. "Make it Thursday and I will be all ready."

Zangwill added that he intended to tell America the truth in his lecture here Nov. 7, and concluded by saying: "I anticipate the consequences. SMALL TOWN HUMOR AND PHILOSOPHY

By BUCK CAMPBELL

The autoist who stops to think usually thinks to stop.

A man can do without any trouble, but he can't do much.

There is always an opportunity to do good if you will only grasp it.

Life in the small towns is just one piece of gossip after another.

It is all right to tip your hat to the humblest lady in the land, but only a cad will tip his hat to another man.

The first time a young man falls in love it is awful, but if he survives the attack it is better that he has had it. If it gets him he is a goner for ever.

Few and Far Between.

PASSION FOR CLASSIC LORE

The part the classics play in this modern world grows less and less; allusion to the stalwarts of the ancient world is seldom encountered, for instance, in the speeches of public men; the heroes of Greece and Rome are forgotten largely except for the student. What President of these United States today would begin his inaugural address thus: "It was the remark of a Roman consul, in an early period of that celebrated republic?" For such was the opening sentence uttered by President William Henry Harrison at his inauguration.

The hero of Tippecanoe had said of his soldiers after that battle, "Every private in the whole army, on that occasion was a Leonidas, Epaminondas, or Horatius Coclus." He was a reader of the classics, and liked particularly "Plutarch's Lives." So it was natural perhaps, that his inaugural address should start off as it did. That it did not bristle from beginning to end with classical allusions is due to Daniel Webster.

A day or two before the address was delivered the secretary of state was to be seen coming out of General Harrison's residence, seemingly no little agitated. "What is the matter with you this morning?" inquired a friend unexpectedly coming upon him; "you seem agitated, Mr. Webster."

"Agitated, sir? And who would not feel agitated that had committed the crimes, murders most foul, and from malice aforethought, of I know not how many Greeks and Romans."

But for Webster, Miltiades would have fought Marathon over again, the Horatii re-exterminated the Curtii and Quintus Curtius have taken a second leap into the fatal chasm, had the general's original purpose been carried out. It was said at the time that Harrison, while he reluctantly consented to the exclusion of other Roman celebrities, insisted upon retaining the Roman consul in his opening sentence, to which Webster finally yielded on condition that his name be suppressed.—Kansas City Star.

How Dogs Got Their Names.

The derivation of dogs' names recently formed the subject of an interesting discourse by a well-known dog fancier. The spaniel, it seems, was so called because the original breed of this type came from Spain. The Blenheim spaniel got his from Blenheim palace, where this dog first gained popularity in the time of the great duke of Marlborough. In the same way the King Charles spaniel owes its name to the merry monarch. Fox terriers did not gain their name from a likeness to the fox, but from the fact that formerly they were used in hunting foxes. Many years ago they were sent by their masters down the fox's burrow to draw and kill their quarry. It was in those days a saying that a good terrier never came out of burrow without a fox.

Heart of Palm as Food.

Jewelers search the world to supply rare gems for their clients. The modiste follows the ever-changing fashion universe. And there are select grocery companies which call on every part of the globe for rare delicacies to satisfy fastidious appetites with food luxuries. "Coeur de Palmier" is the name of one vegetable that adorns the shelves of some companies. Put into English, it is the heart of the palm tree and comes from the Reunion Islands, the native home of the extinct dodo, which lie 500 miles south of Cape Town. There is one heart to each palm tree. There are three hearts to a $1.15 tin. Heart of palms is used to take the place of asparagus in salads, etc.

Bugs Drawn to Bright Lights.

Feeding fish by electric light is an experiment being tried at a hatchery in a mid-western state. It was discovered that an incandescent bulb at the edge of one of the ponds for young channel catfish attracted various night-flying bugs and that the fishes caught them whenever they ventured close to the water. More lights were strung around the tanks and now the finny creatures are furnished with thousands of insects that swarm about the bright rays on summer nights.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

The Expert's View.

A green trimmer was told to put a piece of imitation mahogany in the window and mark it "Sheraton." He thought he would improve on his instructions. Knowing nothing about furniture, he marked it "Fine Mahogany—Sheridan."

An expert happening along viewed the exhibit and observed: "Another case of Sheridan twenty miles away."

Might Help.

"They say," stated the tourist, "that deerskin moccasins are fine for these mountain trails. Could you make me a pair?"

"I have no pattern," answered the village shoemaker doubtfully. "Can you furnish me with anything of the kind?"

"Well, I can get you the 'Last of the Mohicans.'"

The Moment of Confidence.

"Did you feel perfectly at ease when you made your first speech in congress?"

"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum. "I was all right until the comments began to come in. The first speech was the most comfortable one I ever made."

ADVOCATES OF WORLD COURT

Meeting Will be Held Thursday, November 8—Attitude of Late President Harding Commended by Church Leaders and Others.

The conference on international relations to be held in the Methodist Episcopal church Thursday, November 8, will be one of a series of 33 such meetings being held in various parts of Ohio during the three weeks immediately preceding Armistice day. The campaign backed by a group of organizations, with the object of creating more widespread interest in the participation of the United States in international affairs, is attracting attention thruout the country. Several men, who irrespective of party affiliation, have taken the lead in urging American membership in the League of Nations and the World Court, will visit the state to speak at these meetings.

Speakers at the meeting will be Everett Colby New York lawyer former Republican national committee man, member of a subcommittee which drafted the Republican platform in 1920, and chairman of the executive committee of the League of Nations Non-Partisan association, and Kirby Page, who has just returned from a trip abroad gathering material for a book on "Is War Justifiable?"

In addition to the large public conference, arrangements are being made for the speakers to appear before various clubs in the course of their tour of the state.

Arrangements for the series of conferences were begun last spring at a gathering in Columbus of church leaders and representatives of other interested organizations from many sections of the state. At that time a resolution was adopted commending the late President Harding for "his noble attitude concerning the participation by the United States in the proceedings of the World Court of International Justice."

The following local organizations are heartily cooperating: Judge E. A. Brown, president; Miss Bertha Jones, recording secretary; C. O. Leist, treasurer of the County Council of Churches, with Rev. George Weir, county executive secretary; Mrs. Lucy Price, president and Miss Mary Porter, corresponding secretary of the W. C. T. U.; Marvin Steely, lecturer of the Pomona grange and president of the county C. E. Union; Rev. Floyd Logee, secretary of the County Ministerial association; Professor J. O. Eagleson, superintendent of city schools; Professor M. C. Warren, superintendent of schools in the county. The Rotary club will entertain at the noon hour and the chamber of commerce in the early evening. The conferences will be held at 2 and 7 o'clock.

AMUSEMENTS

Jack Holt's latest Paramount starring vehicle "The Tiger's Claw" opened with great success at the Metropolitan theater last evening. The scenes of this splendid production are laid in India, where Mr. Holt as Sam Sandell is employed as an engineer. Mr. Holt is clawed by a tiger and the fever of the tropics takes hold of him. On his recovery, a band of thugs wishing to drive the white people from their country, plot against him and would succeed were it not for the intervention of Sandell's native wife who tells him of the plot. The woman is killed and Sandell, who loves the daughter of his employer, is free to marry her, but not until many thrilling incidents take place, among them the blowing up of the huge dam, which Sandell has built. This is a fitting climax for one of the fastest moving productions seen here in many a day. Eva Novak heads a strong supporting cast.

Frontier Riding Records.

Two notable cavalry rides of the frontier days were those of Tom Tobin and John Kirby. Tobin, when a mere lad, carried dispatches for Gen. Kearney during the Mexican war, once making a record of 800 miles in less than 11 days, using six horses. Kirby performed a similar service from the army camp near Salt Lake during the Mormon troubles, riding to Fort Leavenworth, 1,100 miles in 17 days, using only four horses. He had to abandon his last mount a few miles from his destination and carry his saddle in.

Belgian Women Have Small Feet. The women of Belgium as a class are noted for the smallness of their feet.

Hotel Stenographer

BY ROE FULKERSON

"Who's the man" asked the House Detective.

"That's no man, answered, the Hotel Stenographer. "No matter how old he is, he is still a boy. I just gave him a thrill by telling him I would like to accept his invitation to dinner, but as I was rather an inexperienced girl I did not like to take a chance going out with a fascinating man of the world like him."

"He still wears one of those dinky little Greek letter frat pins down on the southwest corner of his vest. Take it from little sister, as long as a man wears a frat pin he is as sweet and as unsophisticated as a buttercup grown in a meadow 10 miles from the nearest railroad."

"When a man has been out in the world long enough to shed his frat pin he may, or may not, be dangerous, but he certainly is sophisticated. So long as he clings to it, he ought to wear a rubber pacifier around his neck, for he hasn't yet shed his milk teeth."

"All that any woman has to do to succeed with men is to accuse them of being what they are not. If they are hard eyed men of the world, call 'em 'boy,' and they gloom and blossom like a rose in a hothouse. If they are kids with downy cheeks, like a fresh hatched robin, tell them they look dangerous and they will love you like a color ed shouter loves a banjo."

"Men are funny little animals, Kelly. They know what they are, but with women their lives are one continual pose. So long as the woman pretends to think they are something they are not, they think they are getting away with murder and smile behind their hands at what gay deceivers they are. Taken all in all, Kelly, a man is a joke, but it never does to let him know that you know it."

Mrs. Lloyd Jones fell down the cellarway at her home Thursday evening. She was bruised about the body and received a cut about an inch and a half long on the back of her head. Dr. Howard Jones attended to her injuries.

SMALL TOWN HUMOR AND PHILOSOPHY

By BUCK CAMPBELL

The autoist who stops to think usually thinks to stop.

A man can do without any trouble, but he can't do much.

There is always an opportunity to do good if you will only grasp it.

It is all right to tip your hat to the humblest lady in the land, but only a cad will tip his hat to another man.

The first time a young man falls in love it is awful, but if he survives the attack it is better that he has had it. If it gets him he is a goner forever.

Few and Far Between.

PASSION FOR CLASSIC LORE

The part the classics play in this modern world grows less and less; allusion to the stalwarts of the ancient world is seldom encountered, for instance, in the speeches of public men; the heroes of Greece and Rome are forgotten largely except for the student. What President of these United States today would begin his inaugural address thus: "It was the remark of a Roman consul, in an early period of that celebrated republic?" For such was the opening sentence uttered by President William Henry Harrison at his inauguration.

The hero of Tippecanoe had said of his soldiers after that battle, "Every private in the whole army, on that occasion was a Leonidas, Epaminondas, or Horatius Coclus." He was a reader of the classics, and liked particularly "Plutarch's Lives." So it was natural perhaps, that his inaugural address should start off as it did. That it did not bristle from beginning to end with classical allusions is due to Daniel Webster.

A day or two before the address was delivered the secretary of state was to be seen coming out of General Harrison's residence, seemingly no little agitated. "What is the matter with you this morning?" inquired a friend unexpectedly coming upon him; "you seem agitated, Mr. Webster."

"Agitated, sir? And who would not feel agitated that had committed the crimes, murders most foul, and from malice aforethought, of I know not how many Greeks and Romans."

But for Webster, Militades would have fought Marathon over again, the Horatius re-exterminated the Curtall and Quintus Curtius have taken a second leap into the fatal chasm, had the general's original purpose been carried out. It was said at the time that Harrison, while he reluctantly consented to the exclusion of other Roman celebrities, insisted upon retaining the Roman consul in his opening sentence, to which Webster finally yielded on condition that his name be suppressed.—Kansas City Star.

How Dogs Got Their Names.

The derivation of dogs' names recently formed the subject of an interesting discourse by a well-known dog fancier. The spaniel, it seems, was so called because the original breed of this type came from Spain. The Blenheim spaniel got his from Blenheim palace, where this dog first gained popularity in the time of the great duke of Marlborough. In the same way the King Charles spaniel owes its name to the merry monarch. Fox terriers did not gain their name from a likeness to the fox, but from the fact that formerly, they were used in hunting foxes. Many years ago they were sent by their masters down the fox's burrow to draw and kill their quarry. It was in those days a saying that a good terrier never came out of burrow without a fox.

Heart of Palm as Food.

Jewelers search the world to supply rare gems for their clients. The modiste follows the ever-changing fashion universe. And there are select grocery companies which call on every part of the globe for rare delicacies to satisfy fastidious appetites with food luxuries. "Cœur de Palmier" is the name of one vegetable that adorns the shelves of some companies. Put into English, it is the heart of the palm tree and comes from the Reunion Islands, the native home of the extinct dodo, which lies 500 miles south of Cape Town. There is one heart to each palm tree. There are three hearts to a $1.15 tin. Heart of palms is used to take the place of asparagus in salads, etc.

Bugs Drawn to Bright Lights.

Feeding fish by electric light is an experiment being tried at a hatchery in a mid-western state. It was discovered that an incandescent bulb at the edge of one of the ponds for young channel catfish attracted various night-flying bugs and that the fishes caught them whenever they ventured close to the water. More lights were strung around the tanks and now the finny creatures are furnished with thousands of insects that swarm about the bright rays on summer nights.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

The Expert's View.

A green trimmer was told to put a piece of imitation mahogany in the window and mark it "Sheraton."

He thought he would improve on his instructions. Knowing nothing about furniture, he marked it "Fine Mahogany—Sheridan."

An expert happening along viewed the exhibit and observed: "Another case of Sheridan twenty miles away."

Might Help.

"They say," stated the tourist, "that deerskin moccasins are fine for these mountain trails. Could you make me a pair?"

"I have no pattern," answered the village shoemaker doubtfully. "Can you furnish me with anything of the kind?"

"Well, I can get you the 'Last of the Mohicans.'"

The Moment of Confidence.

"Did you feel perfectly at ease when you made your first speech in congress?"

"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum. "I was all right until the comments began to come in. The first speech was the most comfortable one I ever made."

ADVOCATES OF WORLD COURT

Meeting Will be Held Thursday, November 8—Attitude of Late President Harding Commended by Church Leaders and Others.

The conference on international relations to be held in the Methodist Episcopal church Thursday, November 8, will be one of a series of 33 such meetings being held in various parts of Ohio during the three weeks immediately preceding Armistice day. The campaign backed by a group of organizations, with the object of creating more widespread interest in the participation of the United States in international affairs, is attracting attention throughout the country. Several men, who irrespective of party affiliation, have taken the lead in urging American membership in the League of Nations and the World Court, will visit the state to speak at these meetings.

Speakers at the meeting will be Everett Colby New York lawyer former Republican national committee member, member of a subcommittee which drafted the Republican platform in 1920, and chairman of the executive committee of the League of Nations Non-Partisan association, and Kirby Page, who has just returned from a trip abroad gathering material for a book on "Is War Justifiable?"

In addition to the large public conference, arrangements are being made for the speakers to appear before various clubs in the course of their tour of the state.

Arrangements for the series of conferences were begun last spring at a gathering in Columbus of church leaders and representatives of other interested organizations from many sections of the state. At that time a resolution was adopted commending the late President Harding for "his noble attitude concerning the participation by the United States in the proceedings of the World Court of International Justice."

The following local organizations are heartily cooperating: Judge E. A. Brown, president; Miss Bertha Jones, recording secretary; C. O. Leist, treasurer of the County Council of Churches, with Rev. George Weir, county executive secretary; Mrs. Lucy Price, president and Miss Mary Porter, corresponding secretary of the W. C. T. U.; Marvin Stealy, lecturer of the Pomona grange and president of the county C. E. Union; Rev. Floyd Logee, secretary of the County Ministerial association; Professor J. O. Eagleson, superintendent of city schools; Professor M. C. Warren, superintendent of schools in the county. The Rotary club will entertain at the noon hour and the chamber of commerce in the early evening. The conferences will be held at 2 and 7 o'clock.

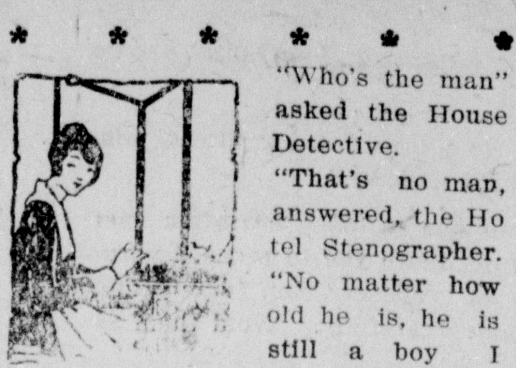

AMUSEMENTS

Jack Holt's latest Paramount starring vehicle "The Tiger's Claw" opened with great success at the Metropolitan theater last evening. The scenes of this splendid production are laid in India, where Mr. Holt as Sam Sandell is employed as an engineer. Mr. Holt is clawed by a tiger and the fever of the tropics takes hold of him. On his recovery, a band of thugs wishing to drive the white people from their country, plot against him and would succeed were it not for the intervention of Sandell's native wife who tells him of the plot. The woman is killed and Sandell, who loves the daughter of his employer, is free to marry her, but not until many thrilling incidents take place, among them the blowing up of the huge dam, which Sandell has built. This is a fitting climax for one of the fastest moving productions seen here in many a day. Eva Novak heads a strong supporting cast.

Frontier Riding Records.

Two notable cavalry rides of the frontier days were those of Tom Tobin and John Kirby. Tobin, when a mere lad, carried dispatches for Gen. Kearney during the Mexican war, once making a record of 800 miles in less than 11 days, using six horses. Kirby performed a similar service from the army camp near Salt Lake during the Mormon troubles, riding to Fort Leavenworth, 1,100 miles in 17 days, using only four horses. He had to abandon his last mount a few miles from his destination and carry his saddle in.

Hotel Stenographer

"Who's the man" asked the House Detective.
"That's no man, answered, the Hotel Stenographer. "No matter how old he is, he is still a boy. I just gave him a thrill by telling him I would like to accept his invitation to dinner, but as I was rather an inexperienced girl I did not like to take a chance going out with a fascinating man of the world like him."

"He still wears one of those dinky little Greek letter frat pins down on the southwest corner of his vest. Take it from little sister, as long as a man wears a frat pin he is as sweet and as unsophisticated as a buttercup grown in a meadow 10 miles from the nearest railroad."

"When a man has been out in the world long enough to shed his frat pin he may, or may not, be dangerous, but he certainly is sophisticated. So long as he clings to it, he ought to wear a rubber pacifier around his neck, for he hasn't yet shed his milk teeth."

"All that any woman has to do to succeed with men is to accuse them of being what they are not. If they are hard eyed men of the world, call 'em 'boy,' and they gloom and blossom like a rose in a hothouse. If they are kids with downy cheeks, like a fresh hatched robin, tell them they look dangerous and they will love you like a colored shouter loves a banjo."

"Men are funny little animals, Kelly. They know what they are, but with women their lives are one continual pose. So long as the woman pretends to think they are something they are not, they think they are getting away with murder and smile behind their hands at what gay deceivers they are. Taken all in all, Kelly, a man is a joke, but it never does to let him know that you know it."

Westminster abbey has been put to many strange uses during the thousand years or so of its existence. In Cromwell's time it was turned into a barracks. FINDS LUXURIES OF WEST IN THE FORBIDDEN CITY

Mecca, the so-called Forbidden City of the Mohammedans on the distant borders of the Red sea, has all the aspects of a modern American or British settlement, says Lord Headley, the British Moslem peer, who was the first Englishman permitted to enter undisguised the sacred precincts of the Arabic holy of holies.

Describing his stay in the kingdom of the Hedjaz as the guest of King Hussein, Lord Headley, who is now in London, said Mecca has telephones, telegraphs, automobiles, airplanes and wireless equipment just like any modern town of the western world. It even has newspapers which print all the latest news from the United States.

Lord Headley asserted that much of the secrecy about Mecca was legendary as the city is open to all who profess Mohammedan beliefs. He referred to the enterprise of an American lecturer who obtained excellent motion picture films depicting the entire life of the city.

When he was in Mecca, Lord Headley continued, there were 70,000 pilgrims en route to the city over the sandy road from Jeddah on the Red sea. The way is marked by the bleached bones of the dead camels that had succumbed to the terrible heat. He praised the sanitary arrangements provided for the pilgrims by the Hedjaz government and said there never was a pilgrimage free from illness. One of the great camps provided along the route for the comfort of pious travelers was in charge of an Irish woman who had looked after more than 30,000 weary and hungry pilgrims from many lands.

FATHER OF 33 CHILDREN

Michigan Ragpicker Raises Large Family in 91 Years.

Father of 33 children, the oldest of whom is sixty-seven years old and the youngest a babe of fourteen months, is the claim to distinction of Charles L. Lucius, a ragpicker of Bay City, Mich., who is descendant of two Dutch generals and successively a rancher, a guerrilla fighter, Indian fighter and member of both the Confederate and Union armies during the Civil war.

Of the 33 children who have called Lucius father, the list includes four sets of twins, one set by his present, or fourth, wife, and the others by a second wife.

Lucius bears his ninety-one years lightly. He can do the accepted "daily dozen" exercises while the average person is making up his mind to start. With ease he can rap his knuckles on the floor without bending at the knees.

Stamboulisky's salary as premier was 10,000 levas, or $100 a month.

Beer Brewed in Abbey.

Westminster abbey has been put to many strange uses during the thousand years or so of its existence. In Cromwell's time it was turned into a barracks. In pre-Reformation days it was utilized as a parliament house, and a brewery and a bakery were established by the monks for their convenience within the sacred precincts. —London Tit-Bits.

FINDS LUXURIES OF WEST IN THE FORBIDDEN CITY

Mecca, the so-called Forbidden City of the Mohammedans on the distant borders of the Red sea, has all the aspects of a modern American or British settlement, says Lord Headley, the British Moslem peer, who was the first Englishman permitted to enter undisguised the sacred precincts of the Arabic holy of holies.

Describing his stay in the kingdom of the Hedjaz as the guest of King Hussein, Lord Headley, who is now in London, said Mecca has telephones, telegraphs, automobiles, airplanes and wireless equipment just like any modern town of the western world. It even has newspapers which print all the latest news from the United States.

Lord Headley asserted that much of the secrecy about Mecca was legendary as the city is open to all who profess Mohammedan beliefs. He referred to the enterprise of an American lecturer who obtained excellent motion picture films depicting the entire life of the city.

When he was in Mecca, Lord Headley continued, there were 70,000 pilgrims en route to the city over the sandy road from Jeddah on the Red sea. The way is marked by the bleached bones of the dead camels that had succumbed to the terrible heat. He praised the sanitary arrangements provided for the pilgrims by the Hedjaz government and said there never was a pilgrimage free from illness. One of the great camps provided along the route for the comfort of pious travelers was in charge of an Irish woman who had looked after more than 30,000 weary and hungry pilgrims from many lands.

Michigan Ragpicker Raises Large Family in 91 Years.

Father of 33 children, the oldest of whom is sixty-seven years old and the youngest a babe of fourteen months, is the claim to distinction of Charles L. Lucius, a ragpicker of Bay City, Mich., who is descendant of two Dutch generals and successively a rancher, a guerrilla fighter, Indian fighter and member of both the Confederate and Union armies during the Civil war.

Of the 33 children who have called Lucius father, the list includes four sets of twins, one set by his present, or fourth, wife, and the others by a second wife.

Lucius bears his ninety-one years lightly. He can do the accepted "daily dozen" exercises while the average person is making up his mind to start. With ease, he can rap his knuckles on the floor without bending at the knees.

SLAIN PREMIER HAD $570,000

Large Hoard of Money Found in Stamboulsky Home.

Stamboulsky, premier of Bulgaria, slain during the recent reaction against the peasant government of which he was the leader, had money hidden away for eventualities.

The authorities have found 57,000,000 levas, or approximately $570,000, in his house in Sofia. He was generally reputed to be a hoarder, and is thought to have planted considerable money outside the country. Endeavors are being made to get this also.

Stamboulsky's salary as premier was 10,000 levas, or $100 a month.

United States' Bad Lands.
This is the translation of "Mauvais Terres," the term used by the French-Canadian trappers to describe these regions of unconsolidated rocks that have been extensively eroded. Bad lands occur on arid plateaus formed by horizontal strata of loosely cemented sands and gravels. Youth Exhibits Champion Steer

Lloyd Taube of Marion, Iowa, Wins First Prize With His Calf.

Lloyd Taube, a seventeen-year-old boy from Marion, Linn county, Iowa, had the proud distinction of exhibiting the grand champion baby beef at the Iowa state fair, held at Des Moines, in what was probably the largest show of this character ever held. The boys and girls whose animals had won at the various county fairs were entitled to compete for state honors at Des Moines, and a total of 446 head were lined up before the judges when the state contest was called.

The steer with which Lloyd won the highest honor against this strong field was a pure bred Aberdeen Angus calf named "Tiney". He was a February calf, sired by Erin Boy II of Lone Ash. Lloyd bought him in September and fed him largely on a home-grown ration of shelled corn and clover hay. The calf did so well that his owner entered him in the Baby Beef club in his county, and at the local fair was awarded the championship over 32 entries. This award carried with it a free trip to the International Live Stock exposition, which will be held in Chicago the first week in December.

Took His Pet to Fair.

Spurred on by this success, Lloyd took his pet steer to the Iowa state fair. This animal and one other were the only entries from Linn county, which made his subsequent triumph all the more noteworthy. After the large classes of well-fitted beeves had been sifted down by the breed judges, Prof. H. H. Kildee was called upon to tie the ribbon on the grand champion of the show, and he selected Tiney for this high honor. Lloyd accepted the congratulations of the ringside crowd with becoming modesty and attributed his success to plenty of good feed and constant attention.

Tiney weighed 925 pounds when records were started on April 1, and at the close of the contest balanced the beam at 1,150 pounds. He was allowed about eighteen pounds of shelled corn a day and all the clover hay he would eat. At Des Moines he presented such a highly finished appearance that he could not be denied the victory, in spite of very strong competition.

Has Won Three Times.

Lloyd has been in club work for six years and has won at a county show three times, always with an Angus calf. Three years ago he was awarded a trip to the international, and it was the inspiration received while at Chicago that later proved a big factor in achieving his crowning triumph. While he will again attend that premier exhibition of the live stock world this year, he will not exhibit Tiney there himself, as he had promised a well-known Angus exhibitor living in his home town to let him have the calf at the close of the Iowa state fair. This breeder will continue to grow out the steer and will enter him at Chicago in the open classes against the highest fitted beeves of the most skilled and experienced exhibitors. It will be interesting to watch how this highest type of boys' club endeavor will rank when pitted against the finest products of the noted veterans of the industry.

Corn for Silage Should Be Practically Matured

Silage corn should be allowed to grow as late as the season permits, or until the corn is practically matured, i. e., the kernel has become hard and dented. The stalk is usually somewhat green as late as this stage. Many experiments have been conducted which show that a greater amount of feed of a better quality and that will keep more easily can be obtained from silage which is made from corn cut at this stage of maturity.

Take Pains to Prepare Good Alfalfa Seed Bed

In sowing alfalfa, take pains to prepare a good seed bed. Have it well firmed and fine on top. Then sow 15 to 18 pounds of seed per acre, but be sure to have it inoculated. Don't sow alfalfa on sour land. If your land is not sweet defer seeding until next spring and in the meantime give it a dressing of two to three tons of ground limestone.

Good Things Must Be Plucked.
This world belongs to the man who tries. Its fruits of wealth, power, fame are to be had for the plucking. But it is useless to sit idly beneath the tree and wait for the fruit to drop, for some other fellow usually does the plucking.

"Poor Whites" of Porto Rico.

Nor was servitude confined to Africans. Spain long used Porto Rico as a penal colony, and when public works no longer required them, the convicts were turned loose to shift for themselves. Most of them took to the mountains, where the "poor white" population is numerous to this day. Yet the later generations are no more criminal than the Australians; if there is much petty thieving, it is natural in a hungry, overcrowded community.

Forecasting the Weather.

A homely method of foretelling the weather is to drop carefully a lump of sugar into a cup of coffee. If the bubbles it causes suddenly rush from the center to the side of the cup, it is going to rain very hard. If the air bubbles assemble in the center and then pass to the side of the cup in a deliberate way, you must still be prepared for what the weather forecast would call "some showers." But if the bubbles refuse to stir from the center of the cup, you may go forth to your labors assured of a fine day.

AUTO COLLISION

Buick Sedan of H. S. Heffner Sideswiped on Columbus Pike Thursday Evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey S. Heffner their daughter, Miss Mary, and Mrs. John Bell, were seriously injured in an auto accident at Stop 6, a point on the Columbus pike between the viaduct and the Hartman farm Thursday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock.

Mr. Heffner was driving his Buick sedan car and was returning home from Columbus when the accident occurred. He was driving behind another closed car when the driver of the car ahead turned suddenly into a roadway. Seeing his danger, Mr. Heffner quickly turned in the same direction, but before he could get out of harm's way the forward car sideswiped the Heffner car and the latter collided with a tree at the roadside.

Mr. Heffner was seriously injured. His left knee cap is broken in two portions and it is thought that he is injured internally as his chest is crushed. An X-Ray will be taken of his injuries today to determine the extent.

Mrs. Heffner suffered a severe wrenching of her spinal column and a stiff neck which has since the accident given her much pain. Miss Mary Heffner sustained severe cuts on both legs and arms and her scalp is cut. Her injuries are not considered serious.

The injuries to Mrs. Bell have not been determined but it is feared she sustained a fracture of the right hip. All the injured were removed to Mt. Carmel hospital in ambulances called by passing motorists.

William Heffner, W. F. Heffner and son, Harry Heffner and John Bell were notified of the accident and they motored to Columbus Thursday evening and visited the injured at the hospital. The attending surgeons expressed the opinion that Mr. Heffner would be in the hospital for a period of eight weeks as his injury is a bad one.

Mrs. John Bell, who suffered an injury to her hip was Miss Elizabeth Schleyer before her marriage. An X-Ray will be taken of her injuries today to determine whether her hip is fractured or broken.

The steering wheel of Mr. Heffner's car is smashed. Not a whole spoke was left in the wheel by the force of the impact. The body and frame of the car is also bent plainly showing the force of the collision. The wrecked car was brought back to this city Thursday night by the Clifton Auto Sales company and has been placed in Mr. Heffner's garage.

The driver of the other closed car was a girl who was evidently a green driver unaccustomed to driving outside of a city. With her was an elderly lady, probably her mother. Their names was not secured.

"Scot Free."

To get off scot free is to escape without payment of tax. Scot was a tribute or tax levied upon all subjects according to their ability to pay; lot means the allotment or portion allotted to you, so that to pay scot and lot is to pay the ordinary taxes and also the personal tax allotted to you. If you succeed in evading the tax you got off scot free.

A good farm consisting of 164 acre tract with 8 room frame dwelling, 3 good barns, 2 room pupin station, scales, silo, cement corn crib, large cattle barn and windpump, well drained and fenced with 12 acres of growing alfalfa, located on paved pike just out of the corporation with lowest tax rate in the county. Within 100 yards of traction station, good market and school. If sold in a few days possession can be given at once. We regard this a fine location for a home.

VITAMINES NEEDED BY FISH

Fresh Water Shrimp Diet Make Grayling Trout Extremely Lively in Montana Stream.

Fish to become guinea require vitamins the same as human beings do to have pep.

This has just been demonstrated by hatchery officials in the course of their ten-year program of experimental work in stocking the glacier-fed lakes of Glacier National park with the principal species of trout.

Up to date 3,000,000 brook, black-spotted, rainbow, cutthroat, Dolly Varden and grayling varieties have been planted in a hundred streams and lakes of the Montana wonderland.

Nature seemed to provide a well-balanced diet for all except the grayling to the disappointment of Uncle Sam's fish experts. They did not propagate properly. They got sluggish and kept dying off until the fish dietists discovered there must be something lacking in the natural food of the grayling.

Careful study of the situation revealed there was a single item missing from their bill of fare. So the hatchery caterers added to the finny tribe's menu a Latin entree—gammarrus pulex—which means just fresh-water shrimp. These were served in such large orders that they multiplied thousands of times faster than the greedy trout could devour them.

Two seasons of eating this morsel added so many calories to the grayling's diet that they now are giving light-rod anglers the battles of their sporting lives. Graylings are on the rampage. They are seen leaping up the swiftest rapids, where no fish ever tried to navigate.

Last summer they were even taken on the fly up the streams as far north as the Belly river country, just south of the Canadian border. And on the placid Rocky mountain lakes they are splashing so many rings with their acrobatic performances that it looks as if they are churning the waters with a program of "daily dozen" exercises just to work off surplus energy.

MADE AN OLD POWER SYMBOL

Has Never Failed to Restore Order in the House of Representatives.

In the chamber of the house of representatives at Washington stands one vivid reminder of parliamentary customs of the Middle Ages. It is the mace, which is borne into the chamber just before a sitting of the house begins and which must invariably stand upright on its marble pedestal at the right of the speaker while the house is in session.

When the house goes into committee of the whole and the speaker leaves the chair to be succeeded by the chairman of the committee, the mace is lowered. In case the committee meeting is interrupted by the arrival of a message from the President, the house cannot legally sit again until the mace is elevated.

When any serious disorder occurs in the house the speaker directs the sergeant-at-arms to quell it. This official then takes the mace from its pedestal and advances with it before him toward the offending legislators. As a symbol of dignity and power it has never failed to bring quarreling members to their senses, reminding them of the responsibilities of lawmakers.

The mace is a bundle of ebony rods bound with silver bands and surmounted with a large silver globe on which rests an eagle with wings outstretched. It is similar to the fasces of ancient Rome, from which the Italian fascists take their name.

His Progress.

"Well, well," said the planter. "What are you doing now, Uncle Amos?"

"Ise preachin' of de gospel."
"What! you preaching?"
"Yessah, marster, Ise a preachin'."
"Well, well! Do you use notes?"
"Nossuh. At de fust I use notes, but now I demands de cash."—New Success.

OUT OF SIGHT.

How did you come to puncture the tire?
Ran over a milk bottle.
Didn't you see it in time?
No sir, the kid had it under his coat.

His Handicap.

"Spare a quarter for a poor cripple?"
"What d'you mean? You're not crippled."
"Yus, giv'nor—finansherly!"—London Humorist.

Possibly So.

"I hear you have a new baby at your home, Mr. Jones," said the old lady. "Good gracious," exclaimed Mr. Jones who lives three blocks away, "you do not mean to tell me that you can hear it from here!"

Proper Ambition.

It is very sad for a man to make himself servant to a thing, his manhood all taken out of him by the hydraulic pressure of excessive business. I should not like to be merely a great doctor, a great lawyer, a great minister, a great politician—I should like to be also something of a man.—Theodore Parker
